Danakali Limited to reveal completed Definitive Feasibility Study

Danakali Limited (ASX:DNK) has been granted an ASX trading halt to prepare the final details of its completed Definitive Feasibility Study (PFS) for the Colluli potash project in Eritrea.

Project optimisation work already identified in the PFS is expected to materially enhance the economics of the project.

Colluli is a large, shallow resource comprising a variety of potassium bearing salts in close proximity to the coast and key potash markets of the future.

The halt will remain in place until the opening of trade on Monday 30th November 2015, or earlier if an announcement is made to the market.
substitute for the exercise of independent judgment. Proactive Investors does not accept any liability, including negligence, for any loss or damage arising from the use of, or reliance on, the material contained in this report. There are general risks associated with any investment in securities. Investors should be aware that these risks might result in loss of income and capital invested.

WARNING: No recipients should rely on any recommendation (whether express or implied) contained in this document without obtaining specific advice from their advisers. All investors should therefore consider the appropriateness, in light of their own objectives, financial situation and/or needs, before acting on the advice.

DISCLOSURE: The Company, its directors, associates, employees or representatives may not effect a transaction upon its or their own account in the investments referred to in this report or any related investment until the expiry of 24 hours after the report has been published.